Social and Personal

MR. and Mrs. Conway Macdon have issued invitations for a large reception to be followed by a dance this evening at their beautiful home, "Chestnut Hill," near Orange, Va., in honor of Miss Frances Armistead Tallaferr, whose marriage to Charles, son of James Conway Macdon, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be celebrated on Wednesday, June 22.

The ball room will be handsomely decorated in quantities of white flowers and palms, and a group of palmers and ferns will screen the orchestra, which will play during the evening. In the library, where bridge whist will be played by those who do not care to dance, flame-colored poppies will be arranged in tall vases and baskets, and in the drawing room, where Mr. and Mrs. Macdon will receive their guests, pink and white flowers will form effective decorations. Assisting in receiving will be Mrs. Jacob Stahl, of York, Pa.; Mrs. Frank G. Pankon, of Sewickley, Pa.; Mrs. Henry D. Atwood, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Latimer M. Macdon, of Orange.

This affair will be a very notable event in social circles of the State, as will be the marriage which takes place on Wednesday, since it unites two of the most distinguished families in Virginia, and a brilliant audience will witness the ceremony.

The parlor was prettily decorated in ferns and cut flowers, and Miss Mary Howard, of Floyd, Va., played the wedding march at the end of the bridal party. Lee Todd, of Richmond, attended her sister as dame of honor. She wore a gown of light blue messaline, and her flowers were white roses. Little Miss Melvina Todd, in a dainty white frock, with blue ribbons, carried the ring. Willie S. Kincheloe, of Crewe, Va., was the groom's best man. The bride, who was handsomely gowned in white lace, built over chiffon and white satin, and carried a shower of white sweet peas, was given in marriage by her father. Her tulle veil was arranged with orange blossoms.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rosser left for Virginia Beach to attend the Baptist Sunday School Encampment, after which they will spend some time in North Carolina. ## MARRIED ON WEDNESDAY

REV. WILLIAM ROSSER, of Crewe.

MISS NANCY B. VERSER, of Nottoway County.

WEDDING WILL BE SOCIETY AFFAIR

Roosevelt-Alexander Marriage To-Day One of Season's Fashionable Events.

New York, June 19.—One of the most fashionable and important weddings of the present season will take place to-morrow, when Miss Eleanor Alexander, only daughter of Mrs. Addison Alexander, of this city, becomes the bride of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., eldest son of the President. A large number of invitations have been issued, and the ceremony, which will be performed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, will be witnessed by a fashionable gathering of New York and Washington society.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the second daughter of the ex-President; the Misses Harriet and Janetta Alexander, cousins of the bride; Miss Jean W. Delano, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano, Jr.; and Miss Jessie Millington Drake, of Paris, while Mrs. Snowden A. Fahnestock will act as the matron of honor. Evelyn Du Pont Irving will act as best man, and the ushers will include a number of the young men's classmates at Harvard, as well as his brother, Kermit.

Following the ceremony a reception will be given by Miss Alexander's mother at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles E. Alexander, on West Forty-eighth Street. The young couple have planned to make an extensive tour, after which they will settle down in San Francisco, where Mr. Roosevelt will have charge of a branch of the Hartford Carpet Company.

The wedding of the young couple is the culmination of a romance which began in 1908, when Miss Ethel Roosevelt, while a student at the University of Vermont, met Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who was then a student at the same institution. They were introduced by mutual friends, and from that time they have been inseparable.

Miss Alexander attended with her cousin, Miss Janet Alexander, a close friend to Miss Roosevelt. If the young couple were to marry, they would each other, they showed no signs of it. Young Roosevelt left Harvard about the middle of the year, and he has been working in the mill of the Hartford Carpet Company, at Thompsonville, at a nominal salary, and no one suspected that he was paying attention to anything but business. When the engagement was announced last February, it came as a great surprise to friends of both families.

Miss Alexander is one of New York's most charming society belles. She is a devoted student, and she has been a member of the New York Symphony Club. She made her debut last winter at a dance given by her mother at the Colony Club.

Miss Alexander's mother has a considerable fortune in her own right. She is a devoted student, and she has been a member of the New York Symphony Club. She made her debut last winter at a dance given by her mother at the Colony Club.

The bride is a granddaughter of West Fifty-fourth Street, and a great-granddaughter of the late Theron R. Butler. She is a niece of Charles B. Alexander, who married the sister of the late George Croker, of California.

Eastern Shore News. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Onancock, Va., June 19.—The new Methodist Episcopal Church on Chesapeake Bay, near Onancock, was dedicated yesterday morning, afternoon and night, with several of the former ministers of Onancock circuit as preachers.

A large crowd was present, many coming in gasoline launches and canoes. The building is an attractive one, and the location is admirable. It immediately upon the river and surrounded by the comfortable homes of small farmers and watermen, the scene is picturesque.

Onancock is just becoming an automobile town, seventeen are now owned in the corporation limits and others have been ordered.

Rev. W. Lacy was installed pastor of the Accomac Presbyterian Church this morning, and of the church here at night, Rev. C. S. Blanche, N. Joyner, Frances L. Taylor, Ruth A. Kellam, Mary E. Fosque, Mrs. D. T. Little, Miss Marie Manning, of Henderson, N. C., Normal Instructor, Miss Winnie E. Parsons, of Atlantic, Va.

THEODORE, JR., POPULAR WITH HARVARD STUDENTS

Though Made Conspicuous by Strenuous Father, He Shirked Publicity, and Once Ran Away to Dodge the Spotlight.

"Every man who was a student at Harvard while Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was in college there will wish him happiness to-morrow, on his wedding day, as a Harvard man who was passing through the city yesterday. 'I happened to be in Cambridge while he was there, and he was regarded very favorably by the students who either knew him or knew of him.'

"He was called 'Young Teddy,' but he was in no way a conspicuous fellow. He rather shirked publicity of any sort, and when his father came to see him initiated into the Porcellian Club Theodore, Jr., was so run down by reporters and photographers that he went out to a Boston suburb and hid himself. He was once arrested for being in a fight with a policeman, but was found not guilty of the offense. It was noticed at the time that President Roosevelt said nothing at all about this and maintained a neutral attitude in the matter.

"Following, no doubt, the precepts of his father, Theodore, Jr., went out in his first year and made the freshman football team, playing end. In this position he was placed against Cory, the Yale player, who asked to be put opposite young Teddy, so that he could show what he could do to a President's son. Whatever Cory intended to do, he didn't do it. Young Roosevelt was a game fellow, and held his own, but no more than that.

"Every opportunity was given Theodore, Jr., to become what is known at Harvard as a 'lion'—a prominent man in college—but he was content to be just one of the many. He belonged to the average. He graduated about the middle. Still, he was a good student, right in the midst of the New England country where all the Indian massacres and wars took place. In the old days the Mount Tom guides would point out from the observatory these places, 'way off in the distance, saying: 'Fonder is Deerfield, where in 1722—the Indian chief, Oseawatomie, murdered twenty women and children.' etc. Now the guides point out a blue spiral of smoke barely visible and say, first of all: 'That smoke comes from the factory at Thompsonville, Conn., where Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., works.'

SMALLPOX RAGING NEAR PEDLAR MILLS
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Amherst, Va., June 19.—It is reported that smallpox is raging near Pedlar Mills, in the county of the New England country where all the Indian massacres and wars took place. In the old days the Mount Tom guides would point out from the observatory these places, 'way off in the distance, saying: 'Fonder is Deerfield, where in 1722—the Indian chief, Oseawatomie, murdered twenty women and children.' etc. Now the guides point out a blue spiral of smoke barely visible and say, first of all: 'That smoke comes from the factory at Thompsonville, Conn., where Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., works.'

The appropriations for the District of Columbia are the chief items to either side in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill will be found items of $1,703,000 for running the Senate and $4,749,000 for the House, including messengers, waiters, chauffeurs, barbers, etc. All such items are charged to the general appropriations in this classification, also such items as $202,000 for the new Bureau of Mines and $1,175,000 for the Geological Survey. Then there are such appropriations as $25,440,667 for the army; $41,000,000 for the Post-Office Department; $4,744,000 for fortifications; $2,196,000 for public lands; $131,000,000 for the navy; the appropriations for pensions, nearly all of which goes to the Northwest and West, and the pay of those in the consular and diplomatic service, and the maintenance of the same.

Robbers Raid DENTAL OFFICES

Asheville, N. C., June 19.—Seven of the local dentists' offices were entered by unknown thieves last night, and gold used for filling purposes, together with large quantities of false teeth, valued in all at about $1,500, were taken. No clue to the robbers has yet been found.

The robberies are believed to have been the work of a gang of professionals, who have been making a tour of the Southern States. Circulars were recently received in this city from a Southern dental supply house, stating that such a gang had been making specialty of dentists' offices, had been operating in some of the larger Southern cities, with marked success.
